

Statistics for May 2010

Sessions is the number of individual hosts that accessed our web site within 24 hours. This means that after a host has accessed our web site for the first time and revisits on the same day it will not be counted again. In this way we receive an approximate total of different hosts, which accessed our web site.

The statistics for April 2010 were distorted by an excessive number of hits on 13th April. These appeared to come from a single source, albeit this will have been a gateway to?

